Tips for choosing the best laser hair removal clinic

Veronica Denwick from Laser hair removal at the Bay believes that asking the right questions can ensure that you do not get taken for your money, and that you will not have to be concerned about somebody who does not know what they are doing, using a laser on you. When you want to find a good laser hair removal clinic, you want to make sure that all your questions will be answered, and that you will be getting your hair removed in a safe facility where everyone knows what they are doing. To make sure you get the right laser hair removal clinic, follow these tips:

1. Ask what kind of certifications and training technicians at the clinic have. You want to make sure that those who are removing hair from your body with a laser know what they are doing.
2. If the clinic guarantees permanent hair removal, then you should find another clinic. It is not possible to have permanent hair removal with laser hair removal, but you can have permanent hair reduction. If they promise you this, they are just trying to get you into the clinic. Seek a clinic that gives you realistic promises and results.
3. When you talk to the laser hair clinic, the clinic should thoroughly assess your skin type and your hair colour. There are many other assessments that should be made also including medical history and medications that may affect treatment and outcomes. Light skin and dark hair works best for laser hair removal, but some lasers are now available to treat darker skin types.
4. Ask the clinic how many patients and clients they have treated. Check what experience they have had .
5. Talk with your friends and family and find out if they have gone for laser hair removal, and how successful they were with it. The recommendation of a friend or family member is very important.
6. When you talk to the laser hair clinic, find out what kind of lasers they are going to use. A lot of clinics use the Intense Pulsed Light devices. Intense Pulsed light is not a laser. Find a clinic that uses a class 4 medical Laser. The LightSheer Diode Laser, is good for all skin types and considered to be the gold standard for laser hair removal.

Currently South Australia has no legislation in place to govern the laser hair removal industry. Veronica Denwick believes that this is long overdue and legislation would protect clients from potential injuries that may occur from treatments with an inexperienced practitioner.

Laser hair removal at the Bay only employs nurses who hold their laser safety certificate and have had extensive training to ensure safe treatments for their clients.
